

May 10th

The Juniors gave a most enjoyable entertainment on quite a number of their subjects. The book club the story. Acting was in the only way.

May 17th

The Seniors & of the Rose & the a most amusing much merriment at graceful arranged by enjoyed. songs during conclusion of Love Song with a fitting close. The visitors Mrs & Miss F.

May 19th

Miss Garnier gave us a most charming evening with Mr Ewing, her aim being to show us how Mr Ewing wrote her own life into her books. Extracts were read from "A flat iron for a farthing", "Yackanapes" & many other of her well known stories. The evening Miss Williams, Miss Barnett, Miss Lees & Miss Thomson were among the readers. The evening closed with Miss Garnier reading Mr Ewing's last letter (unfinished) before her death & Dr Thring's letter describing it.

May 20th The sports were a great success owing to the good management of the Seniors. The afternoon was fine though rather cool. Miss Mason was able to be present at most of the events.

The driving blindfold & obstacle races were very amusing. The staff had a very puzzling competition, to assign the eyes of the Seniors & the hands of the Juniors to their respective owners the rest of their person being concealed. Miss Litching proved to be the greater adept at this.

The visitors were Mr & Miss Firth, Mr & Mrs & Mary Gales.

June 2nd

The seniors gave a most enjoyable entertainment in French, in honour of Mademoiselle de Neuville who to was paying us a short visit. After having acted Little Red Riding Hood and Bluebeard, which were both most thrilling, several of the Seniors represented a charade: Marmion. Miss Parish was excellent as a 20th century bluestocking. The evening was brought to a close by a song from Mademoiselle de Neuville. The visitors were Mademoiselle de Neuville and her friend.

June 18th

Miss Headham read a most enjoyable paper on "Chopin". The chief incidents which illustrated his life were well chosen. Short suitable extracts were taken from a book on Composers, which added to the interest of the paper. But at best, Chopin's life was rather unfortunate and uneventful, so a paper on his life must have been difficult to compile, though it was well done in this case. During certain pauses in reading the paper, Miss Headham had asked several of the students to play some of Chopin's best-known pieces. Miss Cleudimmer played "Valse Brillante" in a truly brilliant manner. Soon this was followed by a "Fantasie Impromptu" played by Miss Drury. During another pause the well-known "Nocturne" was played by Miss Wilson. And during other intervals Miss Drury played "Nocturne II". Miss W. played

"Walse Senté". After the paper was finished, ^{and} after the touching episode of Chopin's death had been narrated Miss Drury played "Marche Funebre" magnificently. Perhaps the melody was played too quickly; certainly ^{more} quickly than it was played during the procession of the Queen's funeral.

July 10th

The Children's party gave great pleasure to all, notwithstanding the wet afternoon. The Class-room was transformed into a fair, & the noise created by the various musical instruments, the cries of the showmen & the expressions of astonishment & laughter of the beholders gave quite a bewildered feeling such as is felt at regular fairs.

Stunt Sally & the Punch & Judy Show were much patronised, & the freaks impressed the younger members with a feeling of awe. There was a fortune teller to be visited, a Japanese house, a a fine Art Gallery, & refreshments were to be obtained from a not too clean hokely-pokey stall.

After tea the children gave a delightful little play entitled "The Goose-Girl at the Spring" which concluded with "Sir Roger de Coverley" & the presentation of bouquets to the members of the staff.

All the children were present except Harold & Eric Mason who were kept away on account of illness.

The mothers & other visitors seemed to enjoy everything as much as the children.

Oct 11th /02.

The Juniors gave us another of their delightful entertainments, consisting this time of living pictures with appropriate songs and music. We were all especially interested in "The Vision of Sir Percival's Sister", a picture that was in this year's Academy. The vision was weird and unearthly looking, with a red light behind it apparently shining through it. 'The Last of England' was very realistic, with a real picture frame to add to the effect, but what we all like best was 'The Last Chapter' with Miss White as the Venerable Bede and Miss Cox as the young scribe. After the entertainment, Mr Yeats sang us his Japanese Love Song & his Menagerie Song & Mr Yeats, sang 'Little Lamb who made you'.

Present.

Mr & Mrs Yeats, Mr Feffel Garnier, Miss Kealy, and Rachel Garnier.

Staff

Mrs Mason, Mrs Williams, Mad^{re} Motte, Mr Fieg, Mrs Barnett.

The Students

Mrs Parrot, Mrs Garnier, Mrs Dismore, Mrs Fraser, Mrs Fountain, Fisher, Gray, Heath, Lee, Mendham, Monte, Ogden, Pugh, Pike, Bell, Cleadenen also a few Juniors.

1902.

7 Oct. 7th

Literary Evening.

We read the School for Scandal. Miss Fisher allotted the parts very suitably. Miss Williams made a capital Sir Peter Teazle.

Oct 14th

Literary Evening.

This evening we read part of the 'Princess'. Miss Dismore chose very suitable passages to be read but we had not time to finish. Miss Thomson, Miss Rope, Miss Bell & Miss Hollins sang 'Sweet & Low' in parts & Miss Thomson also sang 'Home they brought her warrior dead' at the close of the evening.

Oct: 27th

Literary Evening.

Miss Pike gave a most delightful evening on the life & works of Charles Dickens. She chose very suitable parts from 'David Copperfield', 'Pickwick Papers', 'Oliver Twist', 'Nicholas Nickleby', 'Martin Chuzzlewit', 'Domby & Son', 'Our Mutual Friend'. 'The Fat Boy' from 'Pickwick Papers' was splendidly read by Miss Williams; as also was Mr Gummidge from David Copperfield, read by Miss Moulé; & 'Sam Weller', also from the 'Pickwick Papers', by Miss Heath.

Nov. 3rd.

Literary Evening.

Miss Moulé read to us from Mrs Gascoigne's life of Charlotte Brontë, & traced out her thoughts & feelings from her works.

Miss Williams, Miss Barnett, Miss Parish, & Miss Drury read from Jane Eyre, Shirley & Villette, the passages all being well chosen.

Miss Moulé's distinct enunciation added much to the charm of the evening which all agreed was one of the most pleasant we have spent.

Nov. 10th

Musical Evening

Miss Bendinman read a short account of Schubert's life, & Miss Drury, Miss Moulé, Thomson, Wilson, Max & Tibbitts gave us illustrations of his works, which were well played & sung.

The evening was a delightful one & its only fault was that it was not longer. We should have much liked to have heard more songs; Miss Hollins' unavoidable absence deprived us of one, an Ave Maria.

Dec: 1st.

The juniors gave a very good French Play, in honour of Mr Parey. It was called 'Le Testament de Madame Paturel'. Madame Paturel had left her property, thinking she had no lawful heir, to two 'dames du monde', relations of her husband, on condition that they should dress up & dance the 'bouquet'. Disesteemed as it was to them, they fulfilled the condition but meantime Jeanneton, a most naïve little peasant girl, appeared on the scene, who turned out to be Madame Paturel's niece, & heiress. Miss Tibbits made a perfect little peasant girl.

Dec 2nd

The Seniors having given their final criticism lessons in the morning, an entertainment was got up in the evening by the juniors. It took the form of various scenes illustrating well-known proverbs & dealing incidentally with such social problems as the training of children, medical aid, & the servant question. It was a very entertaining performance; a tragic element was however introduced at the end, when "Dome they brought her warm dead" was sung & represented in tableaux.

The visitors present were Mr. Perez, Mr. & Mrs. Hawksworth, Miss Armitt, Dr. Ly Johnson.

Christmas 1902. Surely this time all records have been beaten! The Juniors gave us an entertainment, which was Programme.

Scale How.

Ambleside.

December 22nd 1902.

21P1110M061

at Ambleside got-ly, (the same below). Then, as admirably played is a most touching all were so good too. The drama in singing and
"The Staffing" was not as the dresses and stage was in need-paint.
"Songs and sing" "The singing is a chance for her happy & finally Theater, Mr. Ly
the Lord's, before known.
at 3.30

little peasant girl appeared on the scene, who turned out to be a niece, & a fine perfect little

Dec 2nd

The Seniors had lessons in the morning & got up in the afternoon in the form of a known proverb such social pro medical aid, & a very entertain element was how when "Home they sung & represent

The visitors of Mrs Hawksworth

XIP1110M061

ANTIGONE

Dramatis Personae

Creon	Miss Rogge
Haemon	Miss Wix
Teiresias	Miss Dayris
Sentinel	Miss Willis
Messenger	Miss Wooler
Second Messenger	Miss Brownell
Eurydice	Miss Mart
Antigone	Miss Thomson
Ismene	Miss Brookes
Chorus Leader	Miss Hollins
Chorus	Miss Tibbits
	Miss White
	Miss Cox
	Miss Brownell
	Miss Carter
	Miss Wilson
Accompanist	Miss Goode
Stage Manageress

Christmas 1902. Surely this time all records have been beaten. The seniors gave us an entertainment which was

XIP1110M061

(by Sophocles - translated by R Whitelaw)

at a brilliant assembly, Antigone (Alau). Creon as a morally proper is a well-to-do all were so good. The chorus of virgins and "The stage was all as the dress was like a way of hand-painted. Long and long. The long of a cross for the staff & female. Reuben & the other. The water taken from. Let's start

ХІРІТІАСІ

Dec 2nd

Programme

Christmas 1902. Surely this time all records have been beaten! The went. What was

 Col. or another's pert, ay, (triangle (arrow). (iron,
 mt, as admirably played
 'ay, as a wo-thing.
 ' all were so good thout. The chorus west. of singing and shule. The singing was 2, and as the chorus
 2, were the 4 women ing hand-painted songs and to land. "Till long spring as a canoe for y, days & years

Wm. Barnet

$\lambda(p) = 256$

The Seniors had lessons in the morning got up in the afternoon in the form of well known proverbs such social pro-medical aid, & a very entertain-ment element was how when "Home they sung & represent-

The visitors Mrs Hawksworth

Christmas 1902. Surely this time all records have been beaten! The

(by Sophocles - translated by Whitelaw)

21 P115CAGG1

3 t, ay, itelgone telaw). iron t, as admirably plays ay, as a wood-working t, all were so good thoughts. The stone nest.
 n shales.
 h, cause the landing rooping rey, it, s club Barnett

21P116M61

little peasant girl, appeared on the scene,
who turned out to be Madame Patience's niece, & hence perfect little

Dec 2nd

The Seniors & lessons in the got up in the
the form of va-
known proverbs
such social pro-
medical aid, &
a very entertain-element was how when "Dance they sang & represent

The visitors p
Mrs Hawksworth

Chorus

21P116M61

Chorus I

O'er of Helios, thou whose light,
O'er Thebes' sev'ingated walls
Never shone so intensely bright,
All hail, eye of the golden day,
Hail! 'sublimely thou soarest, O'er Dirce's current thy beam thou pourest.

Thy power smote his bright silver shield,
Who left Aras in proud array Back, with keen urging dash,
Thou didst his war dash,
Defeated, affrighted.

'Twas he, Polydorus won to his cause
Who flew with his Eagles over the land
All screaming and eagerly swooping for prey,

They gap'd for our blood,
While with wing-fans aloft,
They shone like the snow
With their mane crested helmets

little peasant girl, appeared on the scene, who turned niece, & hence perfect little

Dec 2nd

The Seniors & lessons in the
got up in the the form of a known proverbs
such social pro
medical aid, &
a very entertain element was how when "Dome they sung & represent

The visitors of Miss Hawksworth

31P1110461
Their breast-plates, their bucklers and lances
He, surrounded with eager spears, Gasping o'er our sev'n portals hung.
Ere his gorge with our blood was fill'd
He fled, crestfallen, fled abas'd;
From heights with his hostile array,
The craven dismay'd retreated
Ere Hephaestus could fire our towers
On his rear the tempest of war
Rushing resistless, drove him afar Scar'd him, urg'd by the Dragon.
For mighty Jove despises the man
Inflated with pride; the boaster he hates.
Hosts he saw shining in gold, rolling like the stormy foaming waves of the deep:
He strikes, hits the man with his fire flashing bolt,

Who, mounting our walls,
Triumphantly shouted "We conquer!" Death struck, he lies on the earth, in an instant down dash'd:
Dark is the torch that he flourish'd in hostile phreasy
He rush'd, snating with rage, Pressing onward first to engage Scal'd the wall but to fall.
All soon or late,
Now to their fate
Over the strife. Ares presiding Circled the right wing.

Chorus

Chorus II.

31P1170461

Our Monarch appears,
See the burthen he bears;
In his arms he enfolds
Death's fatal token
The case of his son!
The deed is his own,
If freely the truth may be spoken.
Alas! thou seest too late,
That justice guideth fate.

Thine eye will tell thee:- yonder see the lifeless corse!

Thou hast succeeded,
If thine aim was sorrows gain:
But wisely tis ordained
That time soothes mental pain.

The future for the future.
What the present needs,
Must be provided for,
And met by present deeds.

little peasant girl, appeared on the scene,
who turned out to be Madame Pater's niece, & being perfect little

Dec 2nd

The Seniors h lessons in the
got up in the
the form of va
known proverbs
such social pro
medical aid, &
a very entertain element was how when "Dance they sung & represent
The visitors of
Mrs Hawksworth

Desire avails not; what the Fates ordain will be:
Prayer, nor advances nor retards their stern decree

'Tis Wisdom that sees
The way to be blest;
To revert the decrees
Ordain'd by the Deities & ever is blest
All the strokes of injustice, most justly rebound;
Recoiling, they wound.
When erring men, corrected, grow sage,
Then Wisdom crowns their age.
All the strokes of injustice, most justly rebound;
Recoiling, they wound.
When erring men, corrected grow sage
Their Wisdom crowns their age.

Christmas 1902. Surely this time all records have been beaten. The Juniors gave us an entertainment, which was universally declared to be the most ambitious ever attempted, as less than a Greek play, Antigone (by Sophocles. Translated by Whitelaw). Oedipus a powerfully drawn character, was admirably played by Mrs. Poffe. Miss Thomson was a most winning Antigone, but for the rest, where all were so good it is unvidious to make distinctions. The chorus must not be forgotten, as their singing and acting was most sympathetic. The staging was most simple, yet very effective and as the dresses they were lovely. In most cases Greek style was of the borders of the dresses being hand-painted.
The evening finished up with songs and dancing, the grand finale being "God Save the King".
Byrne - "God Save the King" and cheer for Mrs.
Williams & other members of the Society & friends for each other!

Mr. W. Hawksworth Mr. W. Pater Mr. W. Pater
Firth, Mr. and Mrs. Fleming the W. W. Pater Mrs. Garrow & St. George Johnson.
also present Mrs. Williams Mrs. Barnett

Franklin, Miss Mott, Mrs. Baille,
Mrs. Parson, Mrs. Garnier and the rest of the Seniors.

Jan 31st 1903.

The Seniors repeated their Greek play Antigone, for the benefit of Mrs. Franklin, who was staying in the house.

Miss Roffe acted the part of Creon splendidly & Miss Thomson that of Antigone. The dresses were very pretty & suitable, especially Miss Mott's, which suited her admirably.

The scenery was a great success; the marble floor being most aptly depicted by American cloth!

Jan. 27. 1903. Tuesday evening; we had a most interesting literary evening given by Miss Brooks on Burns Jones, his life, and paintings; Miss Brooks had taken a great deal of trouble to collect several of Burns Jones' pictures to be handed round as she read us the descriptions of each one.

Feb. 10th 1903

We had a delightful literary evening on Tuesday given by Miss Brownell on the life and works of Jane Austen. Miss Brownell selected very suitable extracts to illustrate the humour and style of the author, and those chosen to read them, did them ample justice.

Literary Evening.

Feb. 17th

Miss Wit gave us a most delightful evening on "My Dear". She chose very suitable passages to be read by Miss Williams, Miss Hitchen, Miss Barnett & several of the others. Unfortunately we had not time to finish, but did so the next evening.

Feb. 14

To

The Junior's first Entertainment was a decided success. It took the same form that our first one did. Last year it was interspersed with pictorial advertisements.

Miss Blease, Miss Elsie Dixon, Miss Gwen Lang, Miss Saunders played excellently on the violin, while Miss Rothera gave us selections on the Piano.

The advertisements were very effective Soap being the favourite theme.

There were 2 representations of Swan Soap, in the first the jump was most ingeniously contrived of packing cases & a broom handle. In the second Miss Saunders was the girl stooping over a pail.

(made from a shallow bath filled with water & bordered with Evergreens)

Miss Gwen as Erasmie Soap in the original colours of buff & purple admiring a Daisy made a pretty picture

The Entertainment concluded with a laughable "Daisy Derry Concert". Shakeshattered heads appeared above owners began to sing. Here they disappeared "up" instead, the giggling in time to the seated at every other end with laughing.

UPPER

PROGRAMME

Evening.

led Goldsmiths comedy d man for our third this term.

Programme
1. Quartette	Misses J. & E. Dixon, I. Saunders
2. Tableau	Miss R. Loveday & Miss Barnett
3. Song	"Ask Nothing More" Miss D. Blease
4. Tableau	Misses M. Wilkinson, E. Dixon
5. Tableau	Miss Owen & G. Francis
6. Piano Solo	Selections Miss M. Rothera
7. Tableau	Misses M. Wilkinson & G. Francis
8. Violin Solo	Miss Saunders
9. Tableau	Misses E. Flower & D. Blease
10. Song	Miss E. Dixon
11. Tableau	Misses M. Rothera & E. Flower
12. Tableau	Miss M. Hilliard
13. Song	"May Day" Miss M. Owen
14. Tableau	Miss I. Saunders
15. Topsy Turvy Concert	Misses R. Loveday, M. Wilkinson
	God Save the King M. Rothera, & Chorus

The Entertainment concluded with a laughable "Topsy Turvy Concert". Shagbattered heads appeared above

Alp 124461

oners began to sing. ere they disappeared up" instead, the gging in time to the ealed at every other d with laughing.

Evening.

ed Goldsmiths comedy t man for our third this term.

Feb. 14th 1903.

at 12⁵ MC61

Up 12/161

The Entertainment concluded with a laughable "Topsy Turvy Concert." Shambleshattered heads appeared above a curtain & their owners began to sing.
at the end of ^{the first} each verse they disappeared & the feet "turned up" instead, the shoes quaintly wagging in time to the music. This was repeated at every other verse, till we ached with laughing.

Literary Evening.

March 3rd Miss Willis selected Goldsmith's comedy
The Good Natured Man for our third Literary Evening this term.

March 10th 03. Miss Heath gave us a very enjoyable literary evening, her paper on Mrs. Gaskell was immensely interesting. A very tragic passage from "Mary Barton" was read admirably by Miss Williams; & we were very much amused by the extract Miss Barnett read from "Ruth".

Literary Evening.

March 24th 03 Miss Tibbitts gave us a most delightful literary evening, and interested us greatly with her paper on Charles Kingsley. She chose very suitable passages to be read by Miss Williams, Miss Goode and Miss Barnett, from the "Water Babies" and "Westward Ho". Miss Thomson sang 'The Three Fishers' beautifully, and also Miss Hollins 'Be Good Sweet ^{maid} child'; and Miss Barnett also sang, so the evening was a most enjoyable one.

Student's Week 1903.

PR OG RA M M &
July 10th 1902.

Monday 20th April, Scale gay scene such as before. — The first ever held & not be the last.
Thirty or more ex-the Classroom for ed by an address
ued until 1.30.
to three days was

Mrs. J. With Nason

subjects amount of work Lunch. — is for school ers writing.

IV Discussion on the Governess as Friend

The Goose-girl at the Spring (Play.)

21 P29047061

Characters:-

King

Queen

Bertha (King's 1st. daughter)

Hilda (" 2nd. ")

Theudelind (" 3rd. ")

disguised as Mootikin

Count-Eric

Lord Chamberlain

Queen's pages

Fairy Queen disguised as

Gammer Grethel Dora + Pannie Interior of Gammer Grethel's cottage

Fairies disguised as geese

Dora, Pannie, Janet + Nellie

(Finis)

Sissie

Mary P.

Silva

Gertrude

& Exterior of Gammer Grethel's cottage

Georgie

Norah

Mary J.

Harold + Eric

Scene I

A Palace

Scene II

A Wood

Scene III

Scene IV

A Palace

Scene V

A Spring

Scene VI

Scene VII

The Reception

March 10th 03. Miss Heath gave us a very enjoyable literary even-was immepassage fr-mirably by much amus read from

Site

March 24th 03 Miss Sibbit Literary & greatly in She chose read by N and Miss and West
'The Three
Miss Hollis
Miss Barr was a n

Students Week 1903.

The week, beginning Monday 20th April, Scale How represented a most gay scene such as has never been experienced before. — The Students Conference — the first ever held & which we all hope will not be the last.

On Monday at 9.30 thirty or more ex--students assembled in the Classroom for the Conference, ^{which} was opened by an address from Mr. Firth, & continued until 1.30.

The Programme for the three days was as follows: —

Monday

- I Opening address by Mr. Firth
- II Paper from Miss Mason
- III P. R. S. Discussions
 - a) Multiplicity of Subjects
 - b) Disproportionate amount of work
— Interval for Lunch. —
 - c) Preparation of boys for school
 - d) Examination Papers
 - e) Question of Handwriting.
- IV Discussion on the Governess as Friend

AT P131M61

Tuesday 21st

I The Art of living in other people's houses.

II Brush-painting

— Interval for Lunch —

III Moral Training

IV Teaching of Modern Languages

Wednesday 22nd

I Possibilities of Expansion

II Methods of Nature Study

III — Interval for Lunch —

III Criticism Lessons.

a) Alexander the Great - Class II - Miss Dawsey

b) Geography - Classes I, II & IV - Miss Pennethorne.

For the 'Criticism Lessons' present students were asked to take the pupil's part.

Among the ex-students present were:—
Misses Parish, Pennethorne, Allen, Nesbitt
M^{rs} Hall (Miss Spearman) Misses Mackenzie, Dawsey, Mendham, Dismorr, Bell, Fraser, Clenchman, Fountain, R. & E. Williams,
W. Kitching, Lake, Russel, Hirtzel, Lawrence,

AT P131M61

White, G. & E. Wilkinson, Gordon, Conder, Maude, Yellman, Moule, Parker, Hall, Dr M. Hughes-Jones, Baird.

Present-students were not allowed to be present during the discussions, but from all reports the 'Conference' was a very great success.

In the afternoon the students went expeditions & otherwise amused themselves.

Thursday April 23rd

The ex-students gave a garden party in the quaint old fashioned garden at the 'Oaks', to which the staff & all the present students were invited. As the invitation only held good if the weather was fine we were very much disgusted when about 2 p.m. it began to rain. However it stopped after a time & four o'clock found us all clustered in little groups in the 'Oaks' garden. Tea was 'poured out' in a little summer house in a corner of the garden + most unliking little tables were placed under the trees. It was too wet to sit down however but we spent a most enjoyable hour wandering about the garden talking to this one + that.

21/10/1961

10
In the evening we had a Gancy Dress Ball. The desks in the classroom had been duly screened off + the bookcases etc elegantly draped with table cloths + flags. Altogether the class room looked quite gay. The visitors arrived about 8 o'clock + some of the dresses were very good.

We all agreed that if there had been a prize Miss Ruby Williams would most certainly have won it. She came wearing a huge crumpled paper lamp shade + was dressed in paper of the same colour + altogether represented a most charming little lamp. Miss Russel + Miss Lake came as the 'Honeycuckle + the Bee'. The bee was a little peculiar to say the least of it, bands of yellow muslin on some brown material representing his stripes in a most becoming manner. Miss Drury made a capital fish wife with her basket slung over her shoulder + Miss Mendham came in drawing a ridiculous little white lamb (Mary had a little lamb!!). Miss Francis was charming in a real Welsh costume + Miss Rothera was the usual P.N.E.U. baby! Miss Mason came in for a few minutes during the evening but she was not able to stay with us. We finished up by dancing in Roger till we could dance no more + after the visitors had gone we all scurried round + got the classroom straight again for the morning —

21/10/1961

Friday, 24th April.

On this evening we had selections from "A Midsummer's Night Dream" acted by the Juniors; & in spite of their choosing so ambitious a play, the acting most really splendid.

Miss Loveday, as Bottom the Weaver, was very good indeed, & ~~so~~ was Miss Rothera, as Lute.

The most comical scene of all was that in which Pyramus & Thisbe (Bottom & Lute) kill themselves, the comfortable way in wh. they settled themselves down to die evoked shouts
of laughter from the audience; Pyramus went so far as to reach for a pillow
— after he was dead!

Miss Owen, as Quince, made a very good thing of a difficult part,

as Smout (the wall), Smug (the lion) &
, did splendidly.
as over, & had the n straight again,
little, till the 5th

on Miss Mason and an "At Home", to people were invited
Students. We all

worked hard to get everywhere ready &
by 2.45 everything looked very pretty;
the classroom was decorated with branches of lark & daffodils & at one the far end a small platform
had been raised for the "artists".

The dining room & verandah were arranged for tea, with little tables about each with a little vase of classroom stage

the main

Friday, 24th Apr

On this evening from "A Midsummer acted by the J their choosing the acting most Miss Loved

was very good Rothera, as Flute
The mo

was that in wh (Bottom & Flute) kill themselves; the comfortable way in wh. they settled themselves down to die evoked shouts
of laughter from the audience; Pyramus
went so far as to reach for a pillow
- after he was dead!

Miss Owen, as Quince, made a very good thing of a difficult part,

SCENES FROM

A Midsummer Night's Dream.

—DRAMATIS PERSONÆ.—

Theseus, Duke of Athens,	Miss J. Dixon
Lysander,	Miss Saunders
Philstrate,	Miss Hilliard
Quince, a carpenter ...	Miss Owen
Snug, a joiner	Miss Francis
Bottom, a weaver	Miss Loveday
Flute, a bellows mender	Miss Rothera
Snout, a tinker	Miss E. Dixon
Hyppolyta, queen of ...	Miss Flower
The Amazons.
Hermia,	Miss Smith

SCENE I.

Athens.—Quince's house.
Enter, Quince, Snug, Bottom, Flute, Snout.

SCENE II.

The Wood.—Enter Quince, Snug, Bottom, Flute and Snug.

SCENE III.

Athens.—The palace of Theseus.
Theseus, Hyppolyta, Philstrate.
Enter Lysander and Hermia.
Enter Prologue.
Enter Pyramus, Thisbe, Wall, Moonshine and Lion.

is Snout (the wall), Snug (the lion), &
, did splendidly.
is over, & had line
n straight again,
little, till the 25th

n Miss Mason and an "At Home", to people were invited
Students. We all

worked hard to get everywhere ready &
by 2.45 everything looked very pretty;
the classroom was decorated with branches of lark & daffodils & at one the far end a small platform
had been raised for the "artists".

The dining room & verandah were arranged for tea, with little tables
about each with a little vase of

classroom stage
the morning

Friday, 24th April

In this evening
from "A Midsummer acted by the Ju their choosing
the acting most

Miss Loveday was very good in Rothana, as Hute.

The most was that in which (Bottom & Hute) kill themselves, the comfortable way in wh. they settled themselves down to die evoked shouts
of laughter from the audience; Pyramus
went so far as to reach for a pillow
- after he was dead!

Miss Owen, as Quince, made a very good thing of a difficult part,

& Miss E. Dixon as Smout (the wall), Miss Francis as Smug (the lion), & in fact every one, did splendidly.

When it was over, & had we had put the room straight again, we danced for a little, till the visitors went.

Saturday April 25th

This afternoon Miss Mason and Miss Williams gave an "At Home", to which about fifty people were invited to meet the Old Students. We all worked hard to get everywhere ready &
by 2.45 everything looked very pretty;
the classroom was decorated with branches of lark & daffodils & at one the far end a small platform
had been raised for the "artists".

The dining room & verandah were arranged for tea, with little tables
about each with a little vase of primroses. Miss Williams & some of the Seniors received the guests in the drawing-room. The concert began soon after three o'clock; Miss Goode read the paper on the Life & Works of Purcell, which she had written for her literary evening & it was illustrated by some of his pieces.

Miss Barnett, Mrs Hall (one of the Old Students) Miss Thomson & Miss Owen sang; the Golden Sonata was played by Miss Saunders, Miss Owen, Miss Dixon & Miss Wilson & it was very much appreciated. Miss Saunders played some selections on the violin.

This part of the Concert was finished by 4.30, when everyone adjourned to the dining-room & drawing room to tea.

After tea there were three more items on the programme; the War March of the Quixots by Miss Barnett, Miss Dixon, Miss S. Dixon, Miss Saunders

Selections from Purcell

(A short Paper on the Life and Works of Purcell will be read by Miss Goode, illustrated by the following):—

1. Song Nymphs and Shepherds MISS OWEN.
2. Recit: and Air from Dido and Aeneas MISS BARNETT.
3. Instrumental.. The Golden Sonata
First Violin. MISS SAUNDERS. Cello. MISS DIXON.
Second Violin. MISS OWEN. Piano. MISS WILSON.
4. Song "I'll Sail upon the Dog-Star" MISS OWEN.
5. Song "Full Fathom Five" MISS BARNETT.
6. Toccata MISS BAIRD?
7. Song "What shall I do?" MISS THOMSON.
8. Instrumental.. Preludio.
Song Tune.
Country Dance.
Aire.
Canaries.
9. Duet Love and Friendship MISSES ROFFE and THOMSON.
10. Song Fairest Isle MISS HOLLINS.
11. Violin Solo MISS SAUNDERS.
12. Song .. "I attempt from Love's Sickness to Fly" .. MISS THOMSON.

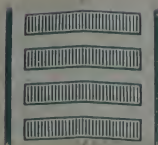

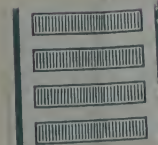

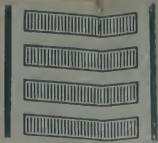

Tea, 4.30.

- (After Tea)
13. Instrumental.. War March of the Priests (Mendelssohn's Athalie)
 14. Song with Violin Obligato..
Canto de Leila (François Suppé) .. MISS BARNETT.
 15. Solo Dances MISS SAUNDERS.
Henry VIII. (German).

ACCOMPANISTS .. MISS BARNETT and MISS WILSON.

Song with a as beautifully and the three
by Miss Saunders
1 delightful one seemed Miss Thomson a down just in she was itors had d no by Song & the both of which led.

primrose the Sen drawing-room at read Purcell her liter illustrat
Miss
Students, sang;
by Miss & Miss W appreciat some a Thi. finished adjoining drawing After items on March 2
Miss Dora

& Miss Owen; an Italian Song with a Violin Obligato which was beautifully sung by Miss Barnett and the three Dances from Henry VIII by Miss Sanders.

This concluded a most delightful programme, which everyone seemed thoroughly to enjoy. Miss Mason was well enough to come down just for the Concert with which she was very pleased.

When most of the visitors had left Mr Yates entertained us by singing "A Japanese Love Song" & "The Royal Wild Beast Show," both of which were very much appreciated.

April 25th The old Students gave us a most delightful entertainment. The programme was varied, being composed of recitations, songs, & scenes from "Pride & Prejudice" & "Northanger Abbey". Mrs. Hale sang a "Scale How Long" which had been specially composed that afternoon by Miss Nesbitt. Miss Drury & Miss Thomson also sang. Miss Hertzog gave us some of her delightful Devonshire stories about "our Jan", & Miss Pennington gave us The "Song of the Lord", adding a new verse for the special satisfaction of the Seniors (who had the Lord Exam. hanging over their heads) ending with the true words "every little student hates examination week". The scenes from Jane Austen's two works were excellent. Those from Pride & Prejudice ^{included} Mr. Collins's proposal to Elizabeth Bennett & Miss Bennett's appeal to her husband to bring her refractory daughter to order. Miss Pennington as "The inimitable Mr. Collins" was the greatest success, but Miss Parish was far too sweet an old lady to properly represent Elizabeth's match-making mamma. A most amusing feature of this item in the programme was the open book on the table, to which Mr. Collins had to continually refer in order, we suppose, to get inspiration in his address to Elizabeth. Miss Allen was splendid as Isabella. ^{in Northanger Abbey} The evening, which was altogether most enjoyable, was appropriately ended by all the Students & the Staff joining hands & singing "Auld Lang Syne".

Literary Evening. June 16th

Miss Willis gave us a very enjoyable evening on Charles Lamb. She read a paper on his life both private and literary reading selections from some of his letters to his half-sister and to Coleridge.

Miss Willis brought out the pathos of Lamb's life and showed the sweetness and simplicity of his character. Selections were read from his "Essay of Elia" among others "Dream Children" & "South Sea Voyage" and the "History of Roast Pig" was splendidly read by Miss Williams.

Scale How Sports. June 20th

We had our Sports on Saturday, June 20th. It was a lovely day for them & everyone thoroughly enjoyed them. Miss Mason came & watched nearly the whole time.

The Sports opened with the 'blind-fold driving' which Miss Saunders & Miss

Wilson won. The great feature of the Sports was the 'Pacing Race', being quite a new idea, Miss Williams won it being only $\frac{1}{2}$ yard ^{out} from the real length of the course. A most amusing ~~item~~ item was the 'Sensory Training', the facial expressions were so many & varied; it was so funny when they smelt the vinegar so few knew it at once, & nearly everyone said the same thing. "Oh! dear! I know it so well!"

What is it? Miss Kitching won this guessing seven out of the eight things. Another amusing thing was the hat-trimming for the Staff, won by Miss Williams. The prizes were very good, & a good selection of them; Miss Williams gave away the prizes after tea.

Programme.

- I. Blind fold driving - Miss Wilson, Miss Saunders
- II. Hundred Yards - Miss Rothera
- III. 3-legged race - Miss Gawn & Miss Smith

IV	Pacing 37½ yards	— Miss Williams 37½
V	Needle-threading	— Miss Rothera
VI	Hat-trimming (Staff)	— Miss Williams
VII	Steeple Chase	— Miss Wooller
VIII	Sensory	— Miss Hitching
IX	Long Jump	— Miss Wooller
X	Tug-of-war	— Seniors
XI	Potato Race	— Miss Loveday
XII	Progressive Tug-of-war	— Miss E. Dixon
XIII	Obstacle Race (not run)

Literary Evening. June 30th.

Miss Wix gave us a most delightful evening on Coleridge, besides being a very interesting paper, everyone could see that Miss Wix was quite at home in her subject.

The allusions to the Lake District and also to Lamb and Wordsworth were especially interesting.

His idea of the apparent failure of his life was told most pathetically.

Miss Williams read 'The ancient Mariner' on Wednesday.

Saturday 11th July

The children's party day & it is raining hard, a disappointment both for us & them as we had hoped to play in the garden; however we cleared & decorated the Class-room for the games; both Class-room & dining-room looked very pretty when decorated with flowers etc.

The children arrived at 3.0 & the afternoon's programme began by a varied entertainment by the Juniors

1) 'The Yellow Dwarf' Miss Owen being the dwarf, very well got up in yellow & red to represent an Eastern man. Some of the acting was very good.

2) 'The Topsy-turvy Concert' - Miss Loveday, Miss Rothera & Miss Saunders. Then came some games which the children enjoyed immensely, after games came 3) 'The Toy Symphony' which was very good & made a great noise.

3/10/1906
Tea followed the 'Toy Symphony' after tea the children gave us their entertainment, which was very pretty indeed & we all enjoyed it immensely.
It consisted of a series of tableaux illustrating a fairy story called 'Love's Reward'. The dresses were very pretty & most effective. After the tableaux our visitors went.

Visitors Mr. Hawkesworth, Jerry & Baby, Mr. & Mrs.
Yates, Mr. Ansen, Mr. Mitchell, Mr.
Rigg, Miss Sedley, Miss White, Miss Bagwell & Miss Lilla Bagwell, & Miss Morah Kelly. &

Literary Evening

We were given a most amusing & enjoyable evening by Miss Mart, who took Lewis Carroll for her subject. Miss Williams kept us in fits of impartially suppressed laughter by her rendering of the song of the Mock Turtle. I say rendering, for Miss Williams intoned the chorus & some other parts of the song. Miss Mart had

3/10/1906
also selected some letters to real children which made one realize how Lewis Carroll must have loved them.

21/11/1901

Tea followed the 'Toy Symphony' & after tea the children gave us their entertainment, which was very pretty indeed & we all enjoyed it immensely.

It consisted of illustrating a 'Reward'.

The & most effective our visitors were

Visitors Mr. Hawkesworth Yates, Mr. An Rigg, Miss Ed
 Bagwell & Mr Norah Kelly.

Like

he were given a evening by Mrs for her subject. & of impartially re-rendering of these rendering, for Mr
 & some other parts of

"Love's Reward" in Tableaux.

Princess banished for persistent love of Prince.

Finds refuge in a wood.

Found by fairies who replace coronet, knowing her future need of it.

Introduced to Fairy-land.

On hearing Princess's story

King and Queen show

great sympathy and offer help.

Prince in search of Princess comes across elves who join in search which ends successfully.

21/11/1901

also selected some letters to real children which made one realise how Lewis Carroll must have loved them.

21/11/1901

— Characters —

Princess	Mary
Prince	Ledlie
Attendant	Stanley
King of Fairies	Sissie
Queen " "	Georgie
1 st Fairy	Gertrude
2 nd " "	Pamie
3 rd " "	Kellie
4 th " "	Marian
King of Elves	Olive
Queen " "	Silva
1 st Elf	Dorothy
2 nd " "	Gladys
3 rd " "	Janet
4 th " "	Jeddy

28 October '03.

French Play. Le Truc de Rose

The Juniors gave us, in honour of Mr. Carey's visit, a truly funny French play. The parts were all ably filled, Miss Smith made a charming lady-doctor, very natural & easy. Miss Loveday, her maid, was also good, having rather a difficult part to play. Miss Hilliard and Miss Saunders were two patients ^{who} came to consult the impostor lady-doctor (Miss Loveday who imitated her mistress well in the country.) Then came the comical part. Miss Francis & Miss Botter came in for a consultation, the former being afflicted with a perpetual sneeze & the latter a well-assumed laugh. Both parts were admirably acted. Miss Owen made up very well as an old cook being rather garrulous.

Altogether we were very much pleased with the play & hope to see it again.

29

English Entertainment

Le Truc de Rose.

comédie en un acte.

28 octobre

Successful evening.

being over the entertainment us on the sit; and we arranged a series of the King
ied by a quota-
The costumes were ffective. Several ui & again.
Elaine was co-
of the boat having enious fashion.
programme between
Miss Barnett, Miss
7. Miss Wilson &
Saunders gave us in to the most

28 October '03.

French Play.

Le Truc de Rose

The Juniors gave a truly funny ably filled, Miss doctor, very water was also good, but play. Miss Hill
two patients, ^{who} com doctor (Miss Low in the country Miss Francis consultation, perpetual en gown. Both re Miss Owen was rather garrul pleased with Personnages.

Madame Blackson
docteresse americaine

Rose sa femme de chambre.

Madame de Follebuchette rentière.

Mademoiselle Aurore Tricotin

Aldegonde Moutardier

Sidonie

Petronille

tante de Rose

cousine de Mme Blackson

29

French Play

NP15841061

E.A. Smith

K. Love day

M. Hilliard

V.R. Sanders

G. Francis

M. Rothera

M. Owen.

being over the entertainment
us on the sit; and we would a most arranged a series

of the King

ied by a quota

The costumes were

ffective. Several in & again.

laine was co

of the boat having

enious fashion.

programme between

Miss Barnett, Miss

Miss Wilson &

sanders gave us

in to the most Successful